Dear Graduate Admissions,

I am writing to offer my strong recommendation that Charlie Yan be admitted to the graduate program at GWU.

I worked as one of Charlie's supervisors for around 3 years at Pneubotics and later Canvas Construction. During that time Charlie made many significant contributions to various aspects of our robotic systems. He single handedly developed our entire user interface with minimal supervision while also doing much of the integration work for new sensors and actuators. Additionally, he made contributions to our estimation, planning, kinematics, and control algorithms, and did much of the work to develop more complicated behaviors allowing our systems to complete real world tasks.

Charlie is smart, hard working, passionate, and is dedicated to his work and team. We spent many long hours debugging issues and developing last minute features for important deadlines. I'm excited for this opportunity for him to continue his professional development.

I believe Charlie has the qualities to succeed in a graduate program and will be an asset to any university he joins.

Sincerely,

Gabriel Hein
